What's good teaching? What does it mean to be a good teacher? 256 incoming interns and fellows over three years told us that personal qualities are the most important attributes of good teachers, such as patience, being approachable and humility. Good teaching requires knowledge, skill and experience as well as good communication skills. This short video summarizes the study and encourages you to be the teacher who inspired you!

What about my score?

The purpose of the score is to offer participants formative feedback to benefit their learning process.

The score is seen by the course instructor (Karen Spear Ellinwood), but is not shared with others.

You will receive credit for having completed the module regardless of your score.

The score helps us to determine whether resident educators are, overall, achieving the learning objectives for each 3-minute video in the series, and where we might need to offer additional educator guidance.

We also welcome your feedback to improve video content and assessments.
